The Jersey Coinage.

In the report of the Deputy Master of the Mint for the year 1876, which has just published, notice is taken of the reform in coinage the island of Jersey. 'The old and incongruous system,' remarks the Deputy Master, ' (continued so lately as in the coinage for that island of the years 1870-71) of the reckoning the penny one-thirteenth part the shilling, has had to give way to the extent of assimilation in the reckoning of it, at one-twelfth part, as in all other of the localities of her Majesty's dominions in which the the penny is current, and £2,000 worth of the new coin, bearing the arms of Jersey and the words States of Jersey, have been issued. — Mail and Telegraph.
